

Frequently Asked Questions by Real Estate Professionals

1. How can T-ReX's simple web tools help me grow my business?

There are 15 million real estate investors in the United States, and according to a study conducted by the National Association of Realtors, these investors are high income individuals with an annual median income of $98,600. The leading motivation for investing in real estate is to generate rental income, diversify investments, and take advantage of tax benefits.

T-ReX creates simple web tools that enable real estate investors to save money. You can link to these tools on your website to distinguish yourself and build credibility.

2. How can I use T-ReX's simple web tools to my advantage?

T-ReX web tools provide valuable content on your website for real estate investors. Many real estate professionals have found that adding T-ReX web tools to their site has allowed them to:

- Brand themselves as professionals that understand investors
- Increase the number of visitors to their site
- Attract investor clients and prospects, and convert them into regular visitors

3. Are T-ReX web tools FREE to use?

You do not have to pay to use our products. All T-ReX products are FREE to use.

Some customers who use our free products will find them really valuable and will want to pay for the additional service of printing reports and tax forms on Depreciate'em and Defer'em.

Simplify'em and RealTaxTips.com are entirely free.

So we think it's a win-win situation for everyone – investors get to save money, and we get happy customers.

4. Do you have to set up an account to use T-ReX's simple web tools?

No. Anyone can use our products without creating an account. Account setup is only required if you would like to save your information for later use.

5. How does T-ReX generate revenue?

T-ReX provides FREE to use simple web tools for real estate investors. We only charge a fee for printing reports and tax forms on Depreciate'em and Defer'em.

6. Why is T-ReX encouraging me to link to their simple web tools?

T-ReX Global is a friendly, customer-focused company, obsessed with creating simple web tools for real estate investors. These tools enable real estate investors to maximize on their returns and save thousands of dollars. T-ReX Global would like more real estate investors to use our products to save money.

Frequently Asked Questions by Real Estate Professionals

7. How can I link to your site?

It is fast and easy to do

- Copy the link from http://www.trexglobal.com/partner/link_to_us
- Add the link to your website

If you need help with creating a link, contact partners@trexglobal.com

8. How can I get more information?

- Contact partners@trexglobal.com
- Or call 1-510-979-9066